9 Pengkalan Kempas, Port Dickson

This is a historical site about 35 km from Port Dickson town. An old grave – Keramat Sungai Ujong – marks the grave of one of the state's leading historical personality, Ulama Sheikh Ahmad Majnun. Arabic writings found on the megalithic stones behind the grave tell the story of his struggle and fight.

10 Forest Reserve 5th km, Jalan Pantai – Lenggeng

About 16 km from Seremban, this is a pretty, secluded area where you can picnic by a stream. Trek along the many jungle tracks for an insight into the Malaysian forest.

2 State Mosque

Situated by the Lake Gardens, a modern new building built with nine pillars to symbolize the nine districts of Negeri Sembilan.

3 State Executive Council Building

Built in colonial style. It now houses the State Library.

4 Taman Seni Budaya (Handicraft Complex)

This complex is on a four-hectare site at the junction of Jalan Sungai Ujong and the Kuala Lumpur – Seremban expressway and about 1 km from the heart of Seremban. Built in the style of Minangkabau houses of old, local handicraft products of the State are sold here and visitors also get a chance to see the actual making of these handicrafts.

5 Museum

Situated within the Taman Seni Budaya Complex, this is an actual old Minangkabau wooden house. Old historical artifacts of the State are kept here. Beside this is another wooden house called Rumah Minang. Part of an old palace, this house was built without nails and has been reassembled similarly at this location.

7 Ulu Bendol

This forest reserve, about 18 km east of Seremban on the way to Kuala Pilah is a great picnic spot. A tropical reserve area, it is surrounded by foliage with a waterfall and lake. Bus service: United Bus Company – Seremban/Kuala Pilah.

8 Port Dickson

32 km from Seremban, this is a highly popular stretch of beach. Here, you can enjoy swimming, wind-surfing or just plain picnicking on 18 km of fine beaches and calm seas. There are several international class hotels like Ming Court Beach Hotel and Si Rusa Inn. There are also other smaller hotels that offer reasonably-priced accommodation.

11 Sri Menanti

This is the state's royal town. The Sri Menanti palace was first built in 1902, and completed three years later. Made entirely of wood, the palace's main attractions include beautiful intricate carvings bearing varied local motifs. This palace ceased to be the royal residence as from 1931 due to the construction of a new modern palace nearby.

SIGHTSEEING

Negeri Sembilan in the national language means "nine states" – as the state comprises a loose federation of nine states. With a total area of 6,645 sq. km and a 43 km long coastline, this small but pretty state is renowned for its Minangkabau-styled architecture characterized by sweeping buffalo-horn shaped roof peaks, reflecting the influence of the state's first inhabitants who came from Minangkabau in Sumatra. It also boasts of attractive beach resorts, historical sights and recreational areas.

The state is the only one in the country that practises a matrilineal Social System (Adat Perpatih)

Negeri Sembilan today is headed by the Yang Di Pertuan Besar who exercises legislative powers on the advice of the Executive Council headed by the Menteri Besar (Chief Minister).

Seremban, the state capital, is 64 km and 45 minutes' drive away from Malaysia's capital city of Kuala Lumpur. It is accessible by road and rail and is 1½ hours away from the international airport at Subang.

Official business is conducted in Bahasa Malaysia, the national language. English however, is spoken widely.

If you're in doubt or need assistance, just stop and ask around. Malaysians are friendly and helpful.

ACCOMMODATION

Accommodation is available in the town or by the beaches. Hotel room rates range from around $20 – $100 for town hotels, $20 – $180 for beach motels and resorts, $20 – $100 for government bungalows and $20 – $80 for government rest-houses. The higher-priced rooms usually offer better facilities such as airconditioning, hot and cold water, telephone and television. The bigger hotels and resorts also offer bars, restaurants and sea sports facilities. There are enough hotels for you to choose to suit your budget, but wherever you decide to stay, traditional Malaysian hospitality awaits you.
